EUREKA

PLANT TREATMENTS

EUREKA pays particular attention to plant treatment. We don't consider only the "mechanical" necessities of cultivation, but also are conscious of a wider perspective that makes it possible for the plants to express their latent possibilities and to fully evolve overcoming, in this way, the "challenge" that adversities (pests and the unfavourable conditions) bring to it.

When EUREKA thinks about "stimulation" it doesn't consider invasive tools or techniques (genetics, chemical stimulation) or tools and techniques which could shock the plant. EUREKA thinks instead about a "subtle" stimulation that might give the plant the invisible tools (as life strengtheners) so that it could go one more step along its path, so that it could "take a step forward" and acquire a new quality by itself.

Nature can walk with its own "legs". The assignment of Man is to assist it with the appropriate tools and methods, but, especially, in the correct direction.

We have selected some of our experiences to show the intentions and the ability of the methodologies that EUREKA has elaborated.
